NEW FACES AT COLLEGE

Dr. Boatwright Says Prospects for Coming Year Are Good.

OLD STUDENTS' HARD LUCK

Failure of "View Business" Works Hardship on Bright Young Men.

Students are already beginning to return to Richmond College, though the session does not begin until September 22d.

Among those who came in this week are John Wright, of Louisiana; C. B. Dearman, of Mississippi; and Frank Hardy and Lucy Hardy, S. B. Bragg, P. J. Wallington and W. S. Brooks, of Virginia.

Dr. Boatwright says that the percentage of old students to return is expected to be larger than usual. The number will be smaller, however, than was expected early in the summer, because of the practical failure this season of what students call the "view business."

About seventy-five of the Richmond College students went to New England and the Middle States last June to sell stereoscopic views, but many of these have been unsuccessful this year.

WILL CAUSE LITTLE JAR

New City Administration to Assume Charge Without Ostentation.

TO ADOPT NEW POLICIES

Mayor and Council Seem Imbued With Spirit of Municipal Progress.

On the eve of the installation of the new city administration there is little or nothing to indicate that the change will cause the slightest jar, but on the other hand, it is expected that things will move on as smoothly as though the recent elections had resulted in the return of the present Mayor and Council.

This should not be taken, however, to mean that there will be no change of policy in municipal matters, for there is every reason to believe there will be, as Mayor-elect McCarthy is thoroughly imbued with the spirit of progress, and the Council which goes in on the same day is in thorough accord with many of his views on matters relating to the city's needs.

There will be no formal ceremonies attending the induction of the new Mayor into office; but, on the other hand, he will simply walk in and take charge of affairs at noon, having already taken the oath of office.

Captain McCarthy will be hand-picked on the start by the failure of important measures relating to the conduct of his office, however, in the Council, by reason of Mayor Taylor's votes, but it is believed that the new Council will speedily adopt them, and that they will be promptly signed by the new Mayor.

Will Not Be Foolish.

It is known that Captain McCarthy will not assume any mock modesty concerning ordinary relating to his office, for he realizes that to furnish the Mayor with a stenographer, for instance, is almost necessary to the proper dispatch of the public business. The Council will be hand-picked on the start by the failure of important measures relating to the conduct of his office, however, in the Council, by reason of Mayor Taylor's votes, but it is believed that the new Council will speedily adopt them, and that they will be promptly signed by the new Mayor.
